Should Sir Michael step down?

ON that day Professor Nonggorr's call on the Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare to step down was published, a colleague asked her friend if Sir Michael should step down at all, and the answer was: WHY NOT?

If we take the above answer for its face value...no. Let us take another look at it again. The above comment is not an answer to a question? Literally, it is a question thrown back at the questioner, meaning, if the suggestion is made that the PM should resign, then let the PM show cause why he should not resign.

And the response by the PM that only Sepiks can tell him to step down is rather pathetic.

Did the Sepiks elect Sir Michael to be the Prime Minister of Papua New Guinea, and if so, where is the source of their legal authority to do so?

We say the PM has lost the plot. He is now like a captain of a shipload of hooligans, imbeciles and morons. And how would these unruly characters know if he is still fit to captain the ship? Obviously, they would not, because they are all in 'loco mode'. And if we can stretch the logic a little further, then we are bound to come to the conclusion that everybody on that ship is a likely candidate for the loony bin, then so is the captain. Because how else can you make sense of what these fellows have been up to lately. Thus, let us survey the debris:

To start with, the Maladina Amendments changed the Constitution over night without any rational debate on whether the powers of the Ombudsman Commission ought to be curbed so that the Commission could no longer give directions to the boys to stop raiding the people's piggy banks. Even the Opposition opted for the change, but after the people took to the streets to voice their anger, the Opposition backed down, but, sorry that was too late because the Maladina Amendments are now part of the constitutional laws of this country. We are unable to say at this stage if the Speaker has certified the amendments to become operative.

When the people objected to what Maladina and his mates were up to, these honourable members of parliament went public, particularly Maladina, telling us that the amendments did not take away any powers from the Ombudsman Commission, but, rather the amendments gave the Commission more powers than it originally had.

Can anybody out there believe this? Just whom do these guys think they are taking for a ride? Did they seriously think we would believe that, and how would they explain the fact that some of us can read, write and speak English being the language in which these amendments were written.

If Maladina and his gangsters were politicians in countries like Australia, New Zealand, England or America, they would have been singled out on their lies, publicly disgraced and made to resign their seats in parliament in shame. Not here in PNG where anything goes.

Except for Peter Donigi, the lone voice, nobody picked up Maladina on his lies. He was allowed to lie through his teeth not once, but on all occasions that he went public to defend his amendments.

Now, getting back to the question why Sir Michael should step down, it is our view that Sir Michael is not reading the writing on the wall, either because he is blind, or because he is looking in the wrong direction.

What every thinking person out there thinks is one thing, but the rationale behind that thought and the suggestion that the PM should step down is something that ought to be picked up and discussed.

People like Professor Nonggorr would single out isolated incidents like the Moti Affair to say that the PM has soiled his nappy, hence, he should go for a long walk to Timbuktu and not return anywhere near the parliament house.

We of this column have expressed our own views on the Moti Affair, so we prefer not to dwell on that matter.

We say that the PM has far more damaging records following him around than the Moti Affair.

Take a look further back to the time, or times, Sir Michael has been the PM. He is the one who was instrumental in passing the Organic Law on Duties and Responsibilities of Leadership (the Leadership Code). This created a rift between himself and Sir Julius Chan, who was totally against it. And now with the Maladina amendment, the PM has done a U-turn and now is seeing eye to eye with Sir Julius. If you look at the records of our past prime ministers, we say that Sir Julius was the most intelligent of them all, and the only one with some foresight.

In our view, the public would not have been so aghast if somebody like Sir Julius initiated the amendments. However, what Sir Michael and his mob did was to get Maladina to introduce the amendments into parliament as a Private Member's Bill, and that way, get the government to move in and allow it to pass into the Law Book with the speed of lightning. It was done in a flash.

Then comes the LNG Project. This project got off to a hasty start through lies, cheating and conniving by the government. The landowners were told that they had over 200 million kina set aside for them if only they could give their blessing quickly which they did.

This LNG Project is a time bomb that has already started to tick off minutes, even before the project starts in a meaningful way.

We can already see the players bombarded by questions on what has happened to most of the BSA funds promised in Kokopo.

The four key departments, namely, Petroleum and Energy, Planning, IPBC and Finance are still trying to work out who has control over what is left of the money and now we hear that the Department of Trade and Industry has joined in the farce.

Anybody with some common sense would know that the worst places one can play around is within the Highlands region known for the inhabitants' propensity toward aggression, lawlessness and the like.

And this LNG project could not be in any worse place, than the Southern Highlands. Thus, if there is anybody out there who is listening, please, wake up and get the basics in order so that the local landowners' grievances are attended to and that they may see their way out of whatever predicament that they may find themselves in.

We suggested in this column some time ago, that the government ought to create a Claims Commission of sorts, to receive complaints, process the complaints and that way, attend to the core issues raised by the landowners.

So far, they have tried to go to the Law Courts, but it is common sense that the Law Courts are not geared to handle these kinds of disputes which encompass a broad range of social issues.

There are underlying land disputes which have been swept under the carpet by the government. The Land Titles Commission which ought to determine any land disputes has not been operational for some time because of lack of funds and facilities. Thus, some disputes have been outstanding since 2000, or even earlier.

And the most frightening aspect of this LNG Project is that the ordinary people are not likely to see any tangible benefits from this project.

Obviously, the equity and royalty payments will go the handful of landowners, if we ever sort out who the landowners are. A few hundred or more may find employment with the project and any associated activities. And what will happen to the bulk of the people who are neither landowners nor employees in the LNG and other related activities?

It is our hunch that more and more the standard of living will get higher and higher because of this project and the ordinary man on the street will get poorer and poorer because there is no way he can catch up with the high living standard. This is exactly the reason why the Catholic Bishops Conference earlier this year hit the front pages in the local media questioning whether the LNG project was a blessing or a curse.

It is our view that the LNG project per se, is a form of a blessing in that for once, we are given the opportunity to access foreign capital. But how the government uses the funds and for what end, is a mystery right now. All the warning lights are now flashing red.

And as if we the people have not had a gutful already, we are slapped with this amendment to the Environmental Act 2000. And for people like the Secretary for Justice, Professor Kalinoe and the Attorney General, Ano Pala to tell us that the amendments only outlawed third party proceedings and not interested or aggrieved parties like landowners, is a complete lie.

Would these two gentlemen, please, refer to the exact provisions in the Amendment that say that only third party proceedings are affected and not proceedings by aggrieved or interested parties.

What the amendments have done is to vest complete power in the Director so that where he issues an instrument of authority or issues a permit or approval of some sort, then in that even, that approval will over ride any other law or procedures so that the action by the Director shall prevail in the event of any conflict between any other law and the amended law.

Secondly, the amendments provide that no action by the Director nor any subsequent conduct by the investor acting on the faith of the approval by the Director, shall give rise to any legal action by anybody. Obviously, this includes action by the landowners and not only third party proceedings.

Thus, we ask why the Secretary for Justice and the Attorney General are both lying?

Thirdly, the amendments provide that the action by the Director is final so that the decision is not open to question or such action shall not be reviewed before any court of law. In the past the PNG Supreme Court has come out and said very clearly that such a provision shall not stop a court of law from exercising its inherent powers of review where judicial review powers are invoked. So there is small comfort there that any further administrative action against the Director is not possible, but judicial review cannot be stopped. This is not much of a comfort for the aggrieved landowner.

If we stop here and go back to the Bougainville crisis, one will note that it is conduct like this from the Government that started the whole conflict.

Francis Ona and his tribesmen were asking for a simple request, namely, that the landowners who had to bear most of the burdens ought to take a fair share of the benefits derived from the Panguna mine. And they repeated this message for a long time, and when there was little response from the government and the mining company, Ona took the law into his own hands.

Obviously, this is what we are now headed for. Since we cannot get the government to protect our environment and our livelihood, then we have to take whatever measures we can to protect ourselves and our way of life. This government is a 'Judas government'. This government has kissed us goodbye and handed us over to the foreigners to do as they please on our door steps.

Let us fight this nonsense by the NA Government. Let us make it our business to turf these morons out of the parliament house in the coming 2012 national elections, and see if they can survive on the loot they have stashed away in their times as politicians.

Excellence in technical education

FROM its foundation the mission of Don Bosco Technical school has been to provide education for the less privileged youth. When Archbishop Herman To Paivu invited the Salesians to the Archdiocese of Port Moresby, it was to care for those boys who had not been selected for further education and today, that fine tradition of reaching out and educating those who are most in need continues.

First and foremost, the role of any Catholic School is to educate the students in the faith, to instill in them the spiritual and moral values that will make them faithful members of the Church and honest citizens. The vision and mission of Don Bosco Technical School is to do just this, and over the last twenty five years, they have succeeded in their goal of producing honest and productive citizens of Papua New Guinea.

The school motto "Ad Maiora Natus" reminds us all that we are truly born for greater things.

God continues to challenge us all to use the gifts we have been given to their full potential and so we are better equipped to serve the needs of the Church and the community where we live.

My congratulations to the whole school community as you celebrate your Silver Jubilee. We give thanks to God for the many blessings he has bestowed on you since the first day when the school opened its doors. We also pray that what has been achieved may serve as solid foundation for what is yet to come, as the school continues to strive to provide excellence in technical education.

May God bless you all.

Don Bosco DBTS 25 years achievement

MY dear students, teachers, parents, friends and well-wishers,

As you know, I am new to PNG and to Don Bosco Gabutu. I feel privileged to join the DBTS family in its Silver Jubilee year. Going through the chronicles and the history of the development of the school, I realize that I am STANDING ON HOLY GROUND. This campus has been sanctified by the dedication and hard work of the Salesians, Staff, Ancillary and hundreds of Bosconians who have striven to be "good Christians and honest citizens". I am sure everyone of us at Don Bosco Gabutu feel that we are the blessed heirs of the mantle of Don Bosco. We are the privileged ones who have inherited the Mission - Vision of our predecessors, who have built up this institution to its present status with their sweat and tears!

Their dreams are becoming reality through us!

I recall the invitation of Archbishop Herman ToPaivu to the Salesians to cater to the non-selected youth of Port Moresby. In 1982 Frs. Joseph Savina and Oscar Zamora came to Port Moresby with the aim of starting an institution as per request of the Archbishop.

They were hesitant to begin a school in the land offered by the Archdiocese at Gabutu as it seemed too small for a school. However, with the purchase of an adjacent plot, the plans for a school went straight ahead. Let me put down some of the milestones as we Praise and Thank God and Don Bosco for the wonderful progress:

11 February 1985 : the first batch of 120 students begin school.

30 August 1985 : Department of Education approves Don Bosco as a permitted school.

1988 (Death Centenary of Don Bosco), the 1st batch of Gr. 10 students graduate.

1989 : One-year Technical course for

Grade 10 leavers is offered.

1994 : Recognized as a permitted Technical College, the first of its kind in PNG.

1995 : The Church building is completed and Pope John II visits Don Bosco Gabutu.

1997 : With the upgrading of the school to Senior Secondary, Don Bosco is recognized as the first Technical Secondary School in the country.

2000: New curriculum of competency based training is adopted as required by the National Apprenticeship & Trade Testing Board.

The two-year ITC (Industrial Training Course) is offered.

2001 : Short term courses (10 weeks) are offered for Grade 6-8 leavers in Metal Fabrication - Welding and House Wiring Installation.

2007 : Short term courses in Motor Mechanics and Computer are added to the existing ones. Girls are permitted to join the short term courses.

2008 : The OBE (Objective based education) is followed and syllabi are adapted to the system.

2009 : The Technical syllabi are revised as per requirements of TVET.

2010 : The IT Building is inaugurated, and new courses in Information Technology are offered.

Yes indeed, it has been a steady growth reaching out to young people and helping them to be "Good Christians and Honest Citizens". We can be proud that WE ARE SILVER. We need to remember the past, Celebrate the present, and we Commit ourselves to be true Bosconians.

May Don Bosco guide us as we proceed from the Silver to the Gold. With every prayerful wish,

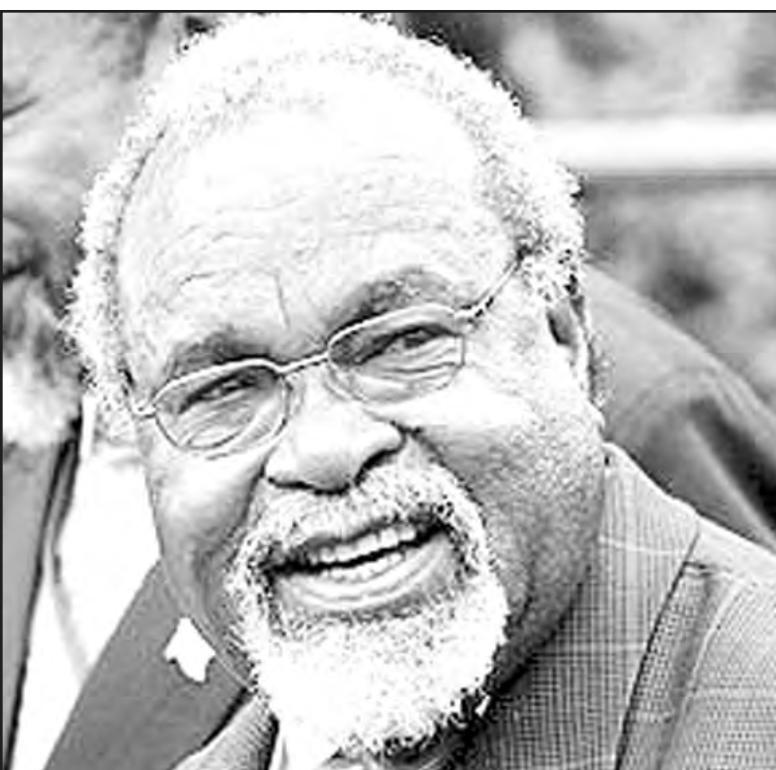

Yours very sincerely,

Fr. Dominic Kachira, sdb Rector

Don Bosco played a vital role in technical education

Congratulatory Message

GREETINGS,

THIS year marks a milestone achievement for the Don Bosco Technical School that celebrates 25 years of providing technical education to young men in the country.

'Congratulations' Don Bosco Technical School on your Silver Jubilee celebration.

Since the school's inception in 1985, Don Bosco has been providing quality education as well as Christian principles and values to students who have attended and are currently attending this school from all over the country.

This achievement was made possible because of hard-work, commitment, dedication and sacrifices from you; the staff and students.

I take this opportunity also to encourage the Saleans of Don

Bosco and the teaching staff of the school in their uniting work of the young men, especially the less privileged and I urged the pupils and present Bosconians to become productive citizens of this country.

Let me also acknowledge the School Principal, the Catholic Education, company sponsors and friends on this great achievement and I challenge you all to advance this school into the next decade.

As you know, students who have graduated from Don Bosco are skilled and molded into disciplined young men who are sufficiently prepared to join the workforce in Papua New Guinea. Many graduated students are now working in industries like mining, shipping, fisheries, forestry, etc.

Technical education is very important as it plays a vital role in the development of the country particularly with the current booming mining and LNG sectors.

Thus, many job opportunities arise giving students the possibility to take on the challenges by demonstrating the skills they have acquired whilst in school.

All in all, Don Bosco has done us proud as a Catholic run institution and is seen to many as one of the best providers of technical education in PNG.

Once again 'Congratulations' Don Bosco Technical School in your great milestone achievement.
